UPPER PERKIOMEN HIGH SCHOOL
PENNSBURG, PA.

INTRODUCTION

In this a time often characterized by conflict or discontent, the good points of school life are often overlooked. People tend to remember the few individuals who break rules, and forget the many who are really interested in the educational process. It is in this latter group of people, sometimes a silent and sometimes not so silent majority, where idle thoughts turn into action. Throughout this yearbook, students by their actions, will demonstrate their involvement in school life.

There are ever so many opportunities for showing your involvement. A person may participate in class discussion and student government. Sports, musical organizations, and clubs also give a person a chance to express his abilities. By yielding to the challenge of such activities one soon becomes a vital cog in the wheel of school operation. The student becomes aware of the true meaning of involvement and is prepared to become a more knowledgable citizen beyond the halls of U.P.H.S.

DEDICATION

MRS. KATHLEEN UTZ AND MR. MICHAEL DUKA

Instruction in health and physical education requires a great amount of time, patience, and understanding. This woman has given these and more to her students in nine years of service at Upper Perkiomen High School. In addition to her classes, she has served as head hockey and softball coach and assistant basketball coach. Always dedicated to promoting school spirit, she has also served as cheerleading coach and as an advisor to the Voice of Upper Perk. And so, to show our deep appreciation and gratitude to an invaluable friend as well as teacher, we would like to dedicate the 1970 Walum Olum to Mrs. Kathleen Utz.

Rarely does a native son return home to become a great leader and friend. In 1959 this man returned to his high school Alma Mater as a physical education and health teacher. He was assistant coach of that great basketball team of 1965 which won the Bux-Mont League Championship. In 1964 he was also on the coaching staff that won the co-championship in the Bux-Mont League football. Once again in 1967, with the guidance of this talented man, the Indians fought hard to obtain the championship in football. Coaching boy's tennis and intramural wrestling also occupies his time. In addition to his teaching and coaching duties he also conducts a night class in men's physical fitness. To the big man with the friendly smile and the ability to skillfully instruct and inspire students and athletes, the Class of 1970 says a warm "thank you" and dedicates this year's Walum Olum to Mr. Michael Duka.

DR. THOMPSON
SUPERINTENDENT

To the Class of 1970,

Congratulations on the challenging, exciting worlds on your horizon! No former class in Upper Perkiomen history can match your unprecedented opportunities for adventure in living. The potential of your futures extends beyond today's imaginations. Your physical boundary limits have moved out beyond the moon, toward the stars.

But the age-old traits of honesty, kindness, loyalty, industriousness and concern for others, which have made you a great Class, will still be basic to happy, successful lives in the 21st Century. Cherish and hold to them.

Please come back to Upper Perkiomen. You will be welcome home.

MR. MULLEN
ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT

The past several years have been interesting and challenging for all of us concerned with the education of youth in the Upper Perkiomen Valley.

Because of the teamwork of students, parents, teachers, and school administrators, the Board of Education is continually improving the quality of education for our children.

The community has strongly supported those programs which tend to make better schools. The Upper Perkiomen Valley truly recognizes that children are its greatest asset.

Each year our school continues to move closer to a realization of the goal "Pursuit of Excellence." Your continuing support shall make this goal attainable.

UPPER PERKIOMEN SCHOOL BOARD

On the shoulders of these nine men rest the weighty decisions of our school system. Because they have been given the authority by the state, they have the responsibility to hire teachers, choose superintendents, and influence school policy. We appreciate the interest the school board members have shown without monetary reward. The students at Upper Perkiomen High School are thankful for their efforts in providing high level education and a promise for a successful future.

Mr. William L. Keeny, Mr. Clarence A. Roth

MR. ROTH
PRINCIPAL

You have just emerged from a decade — the sixties — filled with events such as internal strife, sit-ins, war and men walking the surface of the moon. Some of these experiences were depressing while others were stimulating.

Now you are embarking upon a new decade — the seventies — which all of you will help to shape. It is hoped that in your formal education at Upper Perkiomen you have acquired knowledge and developed concepts needed to make just decisions in the future.

"There is a past which is gone forever but there is a future which is still ours."

Best wishes!

MR. KEENY
ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

"That's one small step for man, one giant step for mankind."

Your one small step for man will be the successful completion of education in the Upper Perkiomen Schools. Just as each step on the moon was a new adventure for our astronauts, likewise each succeeding year of school was a new adventure in learning for you.

Amid moon landings and other adventures into the universe, man has cast a shadow of his educational knowledge back to earth. The educational transmissions you received enroute to your flight toward graduation will greatly enhance your chance for a successful landing in the world ahead which awaits you.

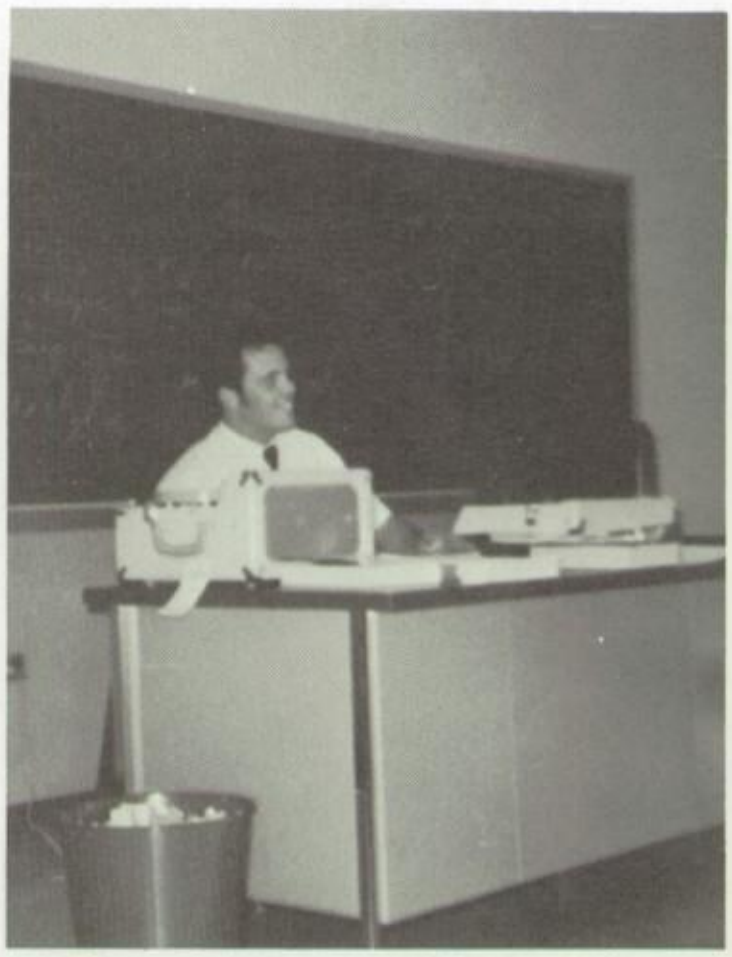
ENGLISH

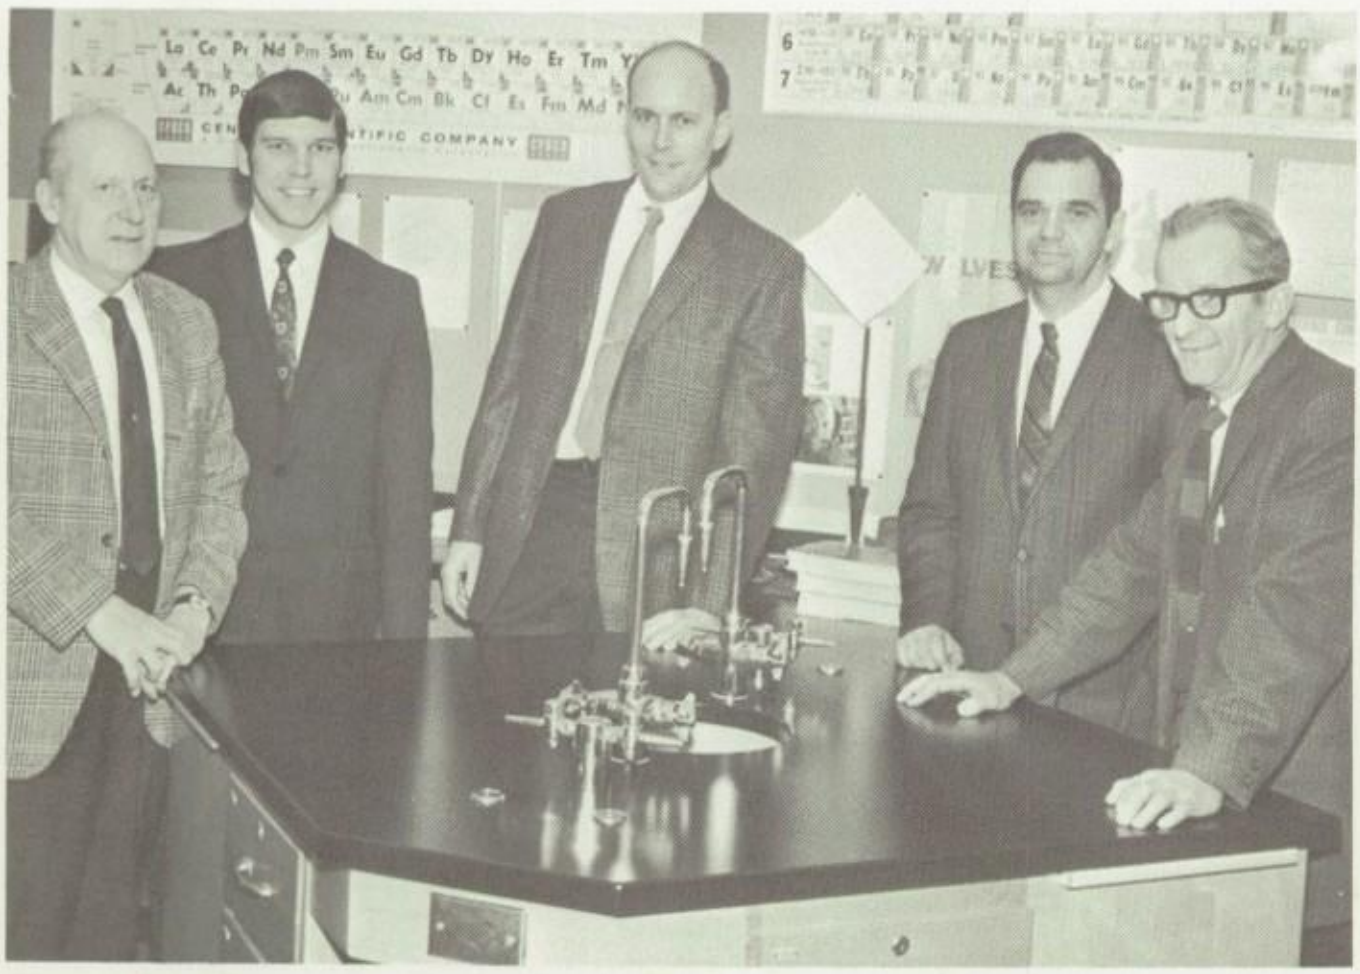
It is the responsibility, and duty, of the English Department to meet the communication challenge, to nurture and develop each student's language arts skills — reading, writing, speaking, listening, and vocabulary — to their fullest extent. Through the traditional English triad — composition, language and literature — we are trying to teach our students to develop their intellects, to think. Through composition we attempt to teach our students to express themselves clearly, concisely and logically; through the study of language we teach our students to speak and to develop the art of listening so that they can discriminate among values, propaganda, half-truths, and subtle lies; and through the study of literature we teach our students, in Faulkner's words, "to help man endure and prevail by lifting his heart, by reminding him of the courage and honor and hope and pride and compassion and pity and sacrifice which have been the glory of his past."



SCIENCE

The science personnel strives to develop the talents of those students whose aspirations lie in the achievement of successful scientific careers.

We also endeavor to develop in all students an interest and appreciation of science as it affects their many facets of life.



N. Snyder, R. Stover, W. Truman, D. Hagenauer, J. Zoshak

FINE ARTS

The Fine Arts program serves the total school population. After the required courses have been completed the programs are available on an elective basis.

The entire program is designed to increase all of the students basic knowledge and appreciation in the realm of the arts. To nurture their interests and self expression and develop each students' skills and abilities in his chosen area. In addition, we hope to instill the desire to apply self discipline in order to successfully achieve their goals.

SITTING: S. Leister; STANDING: F. Wavrek, R. Matzo, R. Lampe, V. Bercher

SOCIAL STUDIES

The Social Studies Department reflects its philosophy through the following primary objectives: (A) achieve the optimum development of students to understand their own social world (B) comprehend the world of men, their activities and their interactions (C) help students to be productive and contributing members of a democracy (D) help to preserve, transmit, and expand for the future generations the heritages and ideas of our society.

The staff provides the learning experience being cognizant of the growing interdependency of all peoples of the world and recognizing the need for everyone to appreciate the value of individual differences.

MATHEMATICS

F. Roncace, S. Ruby, M. Yoder

As a person lives through an era of experience which is considered of major importance to him and to those responsible for guiding his development, he faces certain problems and seeks solutions to them. Some of these problems are quantitative in nature or have quantitative aspects. Students must be taught to apply mathematics to real life situations. The fact is that in today's world, mathematics is an absolutely necessary stepping-stone in many careers. Naturally the amount and kind of mathematical training differs for each situation. However, it would be hard to find any type of occupation where a sound knowledge of mathematics is not useful.

Mathematics then is studied for its utilitarian, educational, and cultural values. It has a dual responsibility. First to provide sound training for our future leaders of science, mathematics and other learned fields. Second to provide, for the major portion of the school population, an assurance of mathematical competence in the ordinary affairs of life of all citizens.

BUSINESS

The world of business offers fields of employment for young men and women in accounting, data processing, advertising, industry, finance, sales, and the military services.

Graduating seniors are encouraged to attend business schools, two-year colleges, and degree granting colleges in order to qualify for jobs that require specialized training. Business graduates are in demand to fill the many roles of responsibility in managerial and executive positions.

A growing population and expanding economy indicate a need for professional secretaries who can relieve some of the demands on busy executives. The professional areas of medicine, law, education, engineering and science are in need of secretaries who have made the effort to specialize in their field. Automation will increase efficiency, but the secretary will continue to provide the human element needed by the professions.

The Business Department is concerned about the knowledge, attitudes, and non-vocational skills needed by all students to be effective in their personal life and to have an understanding of our economic system. Business is in a process of change, and if its awareness of current events can be used as a barometer, the Class of 1970 will have an active and rewarding part in these changes.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

M. Ulrich, K. Utz, M. Duka

Physical education classes contain many varied activities. In order to promote the aim of the program it provides opportunities for developing understanding, interest and skill. Its value can be used for a lifetime of fun and physical fitness.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

"Language is the soul of a nation."

The learning of a modern foreign language is a single discipline with its own objectives and learning procedure, its own characteristic content and expected outcomes. This means that you acquire the skills of communication. Those steps are listening, speaking, reading, and writing. The first step in acquiring them consists of "breaking the sound barrier."

Language is a central feature of the complex of characteristic social patterns of belief and behavior which are referred to as a culture. The words of a language relate to the culture in which it is spoken and without knowledge of that culture the meaning of words can never be fully understood.

SPECIAL SERVICES

The functioning of the school could not be complete without the important roles of the guidance counselors, the librarian, the driver education instructor, the special education teacher, and the nurse.

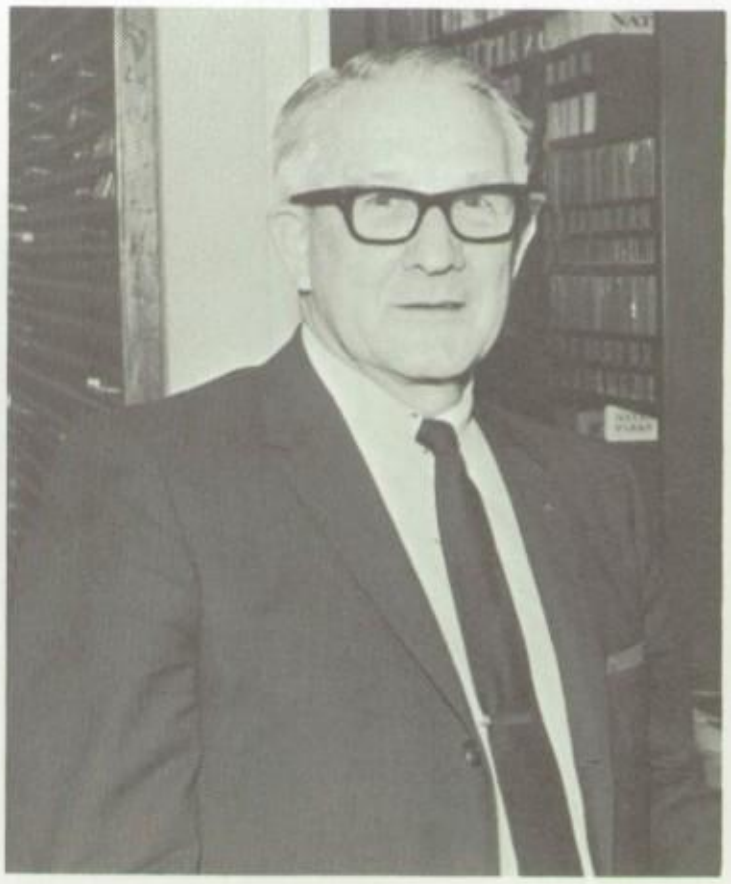
The well-being of the student is always in mind as the guidance counselors administer tests, listen to problems, and assist the student in preparing for his future role in life.

The library provides numerous sources of information to aid teachers in their work and to satisfy the needs of the individual in his search for knowledge.

Driver education is becoming increasingly more important in the functioning of the school. Understanding the mechanism of cars and learning safe driving methods are extremely necessary in our automotive world.

The teaching of special instruction requires a great deal of patience and understanding. Appreciation is felt by all for the service which this department renders.

Through all her duties — administering eye tests, hearing tests, and examinations — the nurse concentrates on caring for and promoting good health in all those concerned with school life.



M. Layser
Assistant for Special Services

SPECIAL SERVICES

The functioning of the office, library and guidance department depends a great deal on the efficiency of the secretaries. Their assistance in keeping the organization and activities of the school running smoothly is important to all concerned with the operation of the school.

The work of the men and women on the cafeteria and janitorial staff has helped make Upper Perkiomen one of the finest and most successful schools in the area. The pleasant smile and hello given by the women working in the cafeteria lines plus the goodtasting food they prepare are much appreciated by the student body. The helpfulness and the great job the janitorial staff does in caring for our beautiful school also are not taken for granted. The excellent job these people have achieved is commendable.

ORGAN DEDICATION

During the 1969-70 school year, the students of the Upper Perkiomen Schools and the citizens of the community were extremely fortunate in receiving this Rodgers Custom Organ.

The organ was presented to the public by the Upper Perkiomen Valley Fair, Inc. Because this group was in the process of disbanding, they decided to give their remaining funds for the purchase of an organ. They felt this gift would be enjoyed by all.

The organ was purchased from the Grafton Piano and Organ Co. It was specially designed to meet the needs of the school program. One of its many advantages include an accommodation whereby a student may play the organ without disturbing other classes. Since this instrument is so versatile both classical and popular music may be played on it. We are indeed grateful to the Fair Comm. for this organ, which has so many advantages that it will undoubtedly be enjoyed for many years to come.

Without courage there cannot be truth, and without truth there can be no other virtue.

1970 CLASS OFFICERS

CLASS HISTORY

Looking back over the past six years, we recognize the vast amount of growth that we, the Class of 1970, have undergone. Growing mentally as well as physically, we have made the transition from awkward, unsure adolescents to mature, confident young men and women. We remember our successes and failures, our ups and downs, and we see that each experience, each year, was one more step in our never-ending process of development.

In 1966, we officially united as the Class of '70. At our first meeting, amid excitement and confusion we elected our officers. Dianne Geisinger was elected president, and Keith Shenberger was chosen to serve as vice-president. Selected for the posts of treasurer and secretary were Jim Smith and Sue Geisinger, respectively. In spring, our freshman party, "Island in the Sky", climaxed a hectic, but eventful year.

As sophomores, we reorganized our class under the direction of new leadership. Keith Shenberger moved into the position of president. Selected as vice-president was Jim Smith. Lorraine Wieand was chosen to serve as secretary and Audrey Stauffer was elected to the position of treasurer. During that year we selected our class colors, light green and dark green, and eagerly ordered our class rings. Amid psychedelic sights and sounds, our sophomore party, "Hypnotique", brought our sophomore year to a close.

As juniors, we returned in the fall of 1968 not to the old, familiar halls of Upper Perk, but to a new, modern, vast building which had finally made our much-awaited dream a reality. A busy year was begun as we re-elected all four officers to their previous posts. We ordered our class jackets, received our rings and put on our first successful stage production, "Home Sweet Homicide", under the direction of Mrs. Anne Raymond. For the first time a joint junior-senior prom was held, "Casino Royale", and another year came to an end.

In September, 1969, as seniors, we assumed our roles as responsible leaders of the school. We began our final year at Upper Perkiomen led by our capable officers who were elected for the third consecutive year. The time passed much too quickly for us as we selected our motto, chose a green-tinted carnation for our class flower, struggled to make yearbook deadlines, presented our senior play, "I Remember Mama", and danced all night to the music at the junior-senior prom. Commencement came as not only a climax to our six years at Upper Perk, but was another step in our growth of knowledge and of preparation for life.

JUNIOR PLAY

As the curtain was drawn open on March 28 and 29, the tension of all the cast members rose to its peak. The Class of '70 was to present its first theatrical production, "Home Sweet Homicide."

The play opens as the three Carstairs children Dinah (Monica Xander), April (Bonnie Smith) and Archie (Bob McNaughton) are relaxing in their patio. All of a sudden they all jump to their feet as they hear two gun shots from the house next door. The children were delighted that their mother (Connie Rhoads) a mystery story authoress would have the opportunity to solve a real-life murder. The action was fast-moving during the entire play and ends with the solution to the murder.

To sobs of Polly Walker (Mary Lou Kleinbach), the bewildered looks of Bill Smith (Keith Shenberger), the tumbles taken by Sergeant O'Hara (Jim Smith) the father of nine children, and the revealing of the murderer Mr. Cherington (Derek Reigner) are a few of the dramatic actions which kept the audience entertained throughout the play.

Due to Mrs. Raymond's capable direction, the cast after many hours of memorizing lines and rehearsing are to be congratulated for a brilliant performance.

"HOME SWEET HOMICIDE"

SENIOR PLAY

"I REMEMBER MAMA"

On November 21 and 22, 1969, the senior thespians, using every ounce of their dramatic talents, gave an excellent final performance of "I Remember Mama."

The main action evolved around the Larson Family who had recently come from Norway. The part of gentle and kind Mama was played by Connie Rhoads and the easy-going Papa was played by Keith Shenberger. To fill the characters of the vivacious children were Monica Xander who portrayed Katrin; Mary Lou Kleinbach, Christine; Bonny Beard, Dagmar; and Bob McNaughton, Nels. The three amusing aunts were Bonnie Smith, Anne Moyer, and Brenda Bauman.

The formula for relieving pain stated by Uncle Christ (Derek Reigner) was one of the highlights of the play.

This was one of the best plays in recent years due to the selection of the play, the excellent cast, and the superb directorship of Mrs. Raymond.

JR.-SR. PROM — 1969
"CASINO ROYALE"

Giant dice, lofty stacks of brightly colored chips, and an over-sized cash register greeted the guests as they arrived at the Jr.-Sr. Prom of 1969. The gymnasium was turned into a true "Casino Royale" for our first big social event. Who will ever forget the softly lit room or the lovely music supplied by "The Blazers"? The time passed all too quickly. An astonishing hypnotist and a light breakfast at dawn helped stretch out the wonderful evening. All the girls were lovely, the boys handsome, and the night was one to remember.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Scholarship, leadership, service, and character are the qualifications for membership in the National Honor Society. In all its activities it has tried to uphold these high standards. The innovation of the privilege passes, designed to give the members a greater amount of freedom during free periods, helped to instill a sense of responsibility and independence in studying within each individual. Through all its activities and services the Honor Society has tried to increase its role in the functioning of the school.

The Upper Perkiomen Chapter of the National Thespian Society expanded its activities this year. Members of the group performed in "I Remember Mama," the senior class play, and in spring presented three one-act plays. After the junior class play several new members were inducted with the hope of an even wider range of activities in the future.

The student council has had an active year under the sponsorship of Mr. Harold Harner. Monthly dances were held, assemblies including movies and lectures were presented to the student body and the school store was operated in order to keep the students supplied with candy, notebooks, pens, pencils, rulers, books and T-shirts and sweatshirts. Besides these projects, the student council prepared a spaghetti dinner for the general public, introduced variety night, held a contest for Homecoming Queen and sent several representatives to student council conferences held at other schools. Being representatives of the student body, the council also brought forth many of the student's complaints and suggestions at their weekly meetings.

Much of the success of this year's student council was due to the leadership of the president, Steve Montgomery. Other officers serving with Steve were: Wendy Bernd, vice president; Dianne Geisinger, secretary; Raymond Schmoyer, treasurer; and Jim Zepp, captain of the monitors.

Besides the usual contents of a school newspaper, it includes school suggestions, comments on world situations, and expressions of creative thought. With this outlook, the Perk-O-lator, under the direction of Mr. Lampe, hopes to present a more comprehensive and meaningful expression of the news.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Future Teachers of America have been a very active organization this year. They traveled to Ursinus College to hear a lecture given by Astronaut Allen Shepherd and they have been tutoring students from the Middle School once a week. Also one of their projects every year is to go to one of the local elementary schools or to the Middle School and take over one of the classes and teach for a day.

During their meetings they discuss their future plans, colleges, and occasionally invite teachers to the meetings to discuss student-teacher relationships.

This fine group of students is under the sponsorship of Miss Deardorff and Mr. O'Dell.

Their activities during the year include service projects, fund raising campaigns, and field trips. These functions, in relation to the purpose of the organization, strive to make all participants better future homemakers.

CONCERT BAND

Wherever the U.P.H.S. band went this year, people stood up and took notice.

Their first appearances were made at football games where they endured the heat of afternoons, chill of rain, and cold of night games, to present their halftime shows. The band also marched in many parades. Their greatest achievements came in the Hamburg and Pottsville parades where they received first, and first and second prizes respectively. In fact people always marveled at the routines of the majorettes and colorguard or cheered when they heard distant strains of "Parade Rock" or "Macerana".

Secondly, they provided that extra special touch to concerts and plays. Who can forget their renditions at Christmas assemblies or the playing of the Alma Mater?

Third and most important we must consider the work put forth by Mr. Bercher and his musicians. We agree that they all do a fine job. This year we were especially proud to have 1 person in Regional Band, 5 people in District Band, and 16 people in Bux-Mont Band.

'A' CHOIR

The 1969-70 U.P.H.S. choir, under the able direction of Mr. Lampe, provides musical enjoyment for both its members and the listening audience.

This year's functions provide the materials for many memories. The year was opened with much practice and various engagements throughout the community. During the Christmas season, such things as the trip to Carlisle, singing carols at assemblies, the Christmas concert, a taping session, a visit to the Golden Agers Club, and the Philadelphia courtyard, will never be forgotten. Later in the year, the choir presented the Spring Concert. This program featured a mixture of spiritual and popular music.

Much is learned in this chorus even though it is sometimes hard to get the notes or words right. However, when the choir sings a number like "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" they sing it with whole-hearted meaning for one and all.

J.V. CHEERLEADERS

Pride, skill, energy, and enthusiasm are the qualities which a cheerleader must possess. The eleven girls in their saddle shoes and blue and gold uniforms have worked hard this year in cheering our teams on to many victories. The football and basketball teams could always count on these girls to be standing in front of the crowd giving all they had to promote spirit. Under their advisor, Mrs. Utz, and Captain Susie Young, the cheerleaders have spent much time in practicing, making signs, and preparing pep rallies.

The Jayvee and Junior High Cheering Squads also displayed their vigor and enthusiasm by boosting their teams on to victories and by working along with the varsity squad in promoting school spirit.

Presenting skits at pep rallies, sponsoring a dance, and most important, cheering at sports events were a few of the Voice of Upper Perk's activities this past year. It is our hope that this group will continue to grow and expand it's activities and ever strive to instill more school spirit within the students.

WALUM OLUM

In order to produce a successful yearbook, a very capable staff of editors must be chosen. Filling the 1970 Walum Olum staff are some of the most talented students that will graduate from Upper Perk. The formidable task of Editor-in-Chief was taken on by Audrey Stauffer. She was aided by the following editors: Monica Xander, Literary; Jim Smith, Lay-out; Derek Reigner, Art; Maryann Kulp, Typing; Bonnie Beard, Photography; Brenda Bauman, Girl's Sports; Rodney Miller, Boy's Sports; and Keith Shenberger, Business Manager.

From September to April the entire staff, advised by Mr. Frederick Schlicher, worked to write articles, identify pictures, make a lay-out for the entire book, sketch various pictures, perform the task of typing the yearbook, and procuring a patron list.

The editors and staff hope that their efforts in producing a book of unforgettable memories of the past year have been successful.

The 1969 football season was both exciting for the Indian fan and player. The spirit and enthusiasm was high in the stands and on the gridiron throughout the year. This feeling being present enabled coaches and players to give 100 per cent effort in practice and every minute of each game.

During the year the team compiled an 8-3 record. Registering wins over Boyertown, Owen J. Roberts, Central Bucks East, Central Bucks West, Wissahickon, Hatboro-Horsham, North Penn, and Pennridge. They also suffered losses to Quakertown, Slatington, and Souderton.

Through it all, they learned to enjoy the victorious moments and to overcome the loneliness and sorrow of defeat. However, it may be said that it was a good year for a great team and the die-hard Indian supporter.

Several of the players on this years Indian squad have been honored in a special way. It is fellows like these that help make Upper Perk the great school that it is.

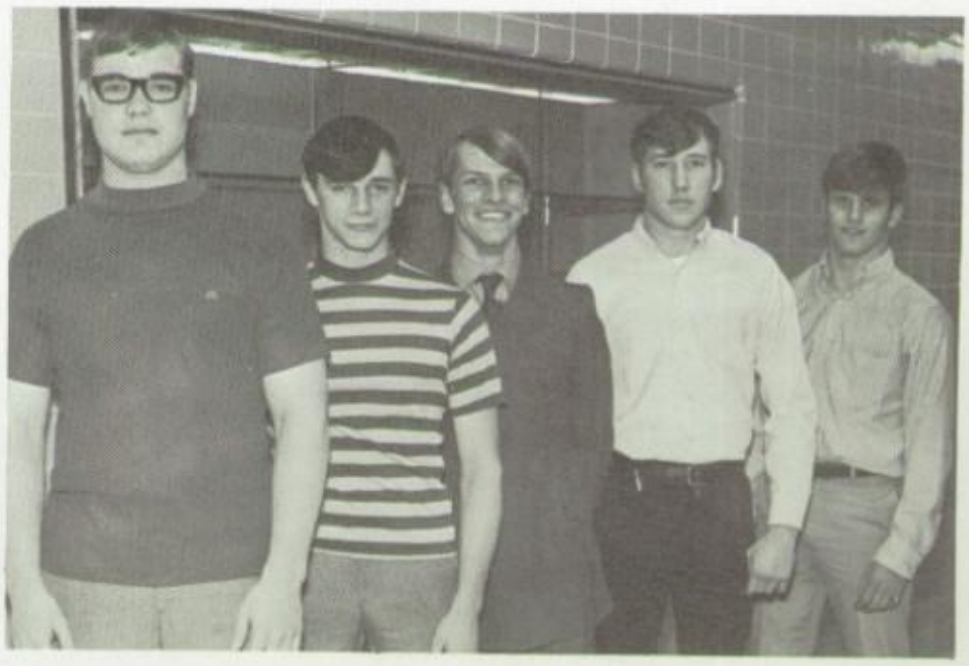
DEFENSE



Jim Zepp

One of our most outstanding football players this season was Jim Zepp. Because of his fantastic record, "Big #33" was honored by selection onto three outstanding teams; All-Bux-Mont offensive first team, All-State Honorable Mention, and Prep All-American Honorable Mention by the Schuylkill Valley Touchdown Club.

It is because of players like Jim, with their unyielding effort and strong team spirit, that the Indians of Upper Perk will never fail to show both visitors and fans a team who wins regardless of score.

This year's hockey season opened with much enthusiasm and school spirit. Although no wins were recorded, a great improvement was evident. The team did manage to tie three games and put up a good fight against their opponents. Despite the 0-7-3 record of the Varsity, the Junior Varsity squad totaled two wins, seven losses, and one tie. High scorers for the varsity team were Sharon Schoelkopf and JoAnn Diehl. For the Junior Varsity squad Donna Dinlocker and Cindy Coy were high. Each girl should feel proud to have represented our team in a tough Bux-Mont league.

B. Giulian, R. Yocum.

The Cross-Country team had two outstanding runners this year in Rich Yocum and Bill Guilian. The team had a very disappointing year when at the end of the season they had recorded no victories. Their closest contest was with Souderton but the rival Indians took it 28-27.

There were many bright points throughout the year for Yocum and Guilian. Rich beat the school record in the Central Bucks West meet with a time of 12:01. In the Bux-Mont meet, Yocum was fourth and Guilian fifteenth. The District meet found Yocum third and Guilian ninth. Rich received a medal for coming in eighteenth in the State meet.

The 1969-70 season for the roundballers was long and hard, with many disappointments, however there were many more bright points. Coach Ruby had three fine seniors, Mike Brendlinger, Ray Schmoyer, and Mike Tercha, who started for the Indians throughout the season. Four juniors and several strong sophomores backed them up.

Mike Tercha was the high scorer on the team. Their record of 5-18, however, didn't show the tough games that were lost in the last few minutes. Possibly one of the finest games of the season was the last home game against Central Bucks East. The tribe played well throughout the game, but lost a heartbreaker in the final minutes.

Their efforts, nevertheless, gained them a place in the District 1, Class B, PIAA playoffs at the Penn Palestra. After a very strong first half, the Indians got in foul trouble, and Avon Grove went on to victory.

It proved a very meritorious year for everyone involved and both the coaches and team are looking forward to a great season in 1970-71.

Entering the second season under Coach Bishop's guidance, the girl's basketball team has been moving onward and upward. They displayed a marked improvement over past years, even though they have not yet attained the goal of victory. The members of the team are now, more than ever, functioning as an entire unit rather than for individual gain, and their scoring is vastly improved.

The girls possess the willingness to give their "all" for the team, and a high hope that this hard work will eventually result in the long-awaited victory.

With the loss of only one senior and many able underclassmen remaining, next year should bring the girls even bigger and better rewards. The team will not be satisfied until the dream of victory is finally realized.

With a strong nucleus of seniors, and many supporting juniors and sophomores, the track team should experience a fine year. The regular Bux-Mont meets will be tough as always, however, the trackmen will also travel to various relays on Saturdays to compete against other clubs.

The Indians will be strong in the sprint events, and various distance races. Extra emphasis will be put on the field events to round out a great team effort. Climaxing the season, will be the State Meet at Penn State University, with the hope that Upper Perk will be represented by some great team members.

Although the swim team did not win a meet in their second year at Upper Perk, they did present a picture of bright and promising years to come. Remembering the team is still in its growth and development stages and thus looks to its returning freshmen and sophomores for help. From this point and that of many fine individual efforts, the team has shown much improvement. There have been many outstanding individuals and team efforts from many of the swimming. Among the leaders were Joel Bieler and Derek Reigner. With only three seniors leaving, Jim Zepp, Derek Reigner, and John Stock, the outlook into the future seems bright indeed!

The girls swim team is now in its second year of existence at Upper Perkiomen. Last year was spent developing the ability of the girls and this year the process of building a winning team was resumed. Hopefully, the hours of hard work accompanied by a strong team spirit, will result in a victorious season for the girls.

Going into its second season at Upper Perkiomen, the girls tennis team is looking for better things this year. VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL SCHOOL

Of increasing importance to students of Upper Perkiomen High today is the Vocational-Technical School.

Here the ambitions and aims of students from four different schools join under the skillful direction of experienced teachers.

This affords students with the opportunity to gain experience in a trade. The courses offered extend from one to three years.

Modern facilities and expert training excel in such areas as audio-visual communications where the students work with photography and closed circuit television, electronics where a student can repair and build radios and other electrical equipment, data processing which involves the students in training from keypunch to unit record equipment and finally to programing a Univac computer, and cosmetology where a student who takes an interest in hair beauty can learn anything from shampooing to cutting to styling. The public lab offers an opportunity for anyone interested to get a new look.

Other courses are auto mechanics where cars are repaired for the public at little or no cost. Going along with that is auto body for a quick paint job.

Machine shop trades trains in the construction of intricate machine parts.

Building trade teaches the skills needed for building. Many things such as a garage; slate house for horticulture, sound-proofing and the beginnings of a barn for agriculture show the fruits of the students efforts.

Agriculture in its crop raising and cattle raising has also provided the Tech School with FFA display winnings to be proud of.

Horticulture is working to train our future florists in flower growth and arrangement. At Christmas they sold wreaths; Valentine's they sold bottled flowers, beautiful and at little cost.

The Vocational-Technical School is important to its students for a successful career and it provides the community with skilled, recommended workers.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENTS

SUE MACHIN

Sue Machin, our foreign exchange student from Australia, arrived in January of last year. Though she was only here for part of this year, she was very much a part of school life. Always wearing a smile, she performed many office duties as well as working in the refreshment stand at football games. We were so glad to have her as our guest and hope she returns very soon to visit us again.

DONNA RENN

This year Upper Perkiomen was honored to send one of its students to a foreign country for a year of study. Donna Renn, a former member of the Class of 1970, left for Brazil in July of last year to obtain an experience of a life time. She will return to the valley in July of this year and become a member of the Class of 1971.

While a student at Upper Perkiomen, Donna was a member of the varsity cheering squad, National Honor Society, and hockey team. Her acting ability in the Junior Play led to her induction to the National Thespian Society. Donna also put her artistic talent to work making decorations for our class parties and Jr. — Sr. Prom.
